

Blue Finn Studio is my small creative studio where I design jewelry and other accessories. I grew up in Finland, went to college there, and as my last job worked at a textile agency in Helsinki where I got interested in design. Then an opportunity presented itself to come to New York and study design at Pratt Institute. I ended up staying in the New York area and worked in various companies as a web designer. My interest in design lead me to begin to create jewelry.

I have become fascinated by various materials, textures and surfaces. It seems to be an endless discovery. I like designing things on the computer, but I have discovered the captivating feeling of materials, beads, gems, metal, wire, etc. Holding something in your hand enables you to experience it in a totally different and profound way. My home village had a lake on one side, river on the other and I used to spend a lot of time on the lake growing up. There are a lot of memories having to do with water, sky, rocks, rustic beaches. My designs reflect these memories from the home country, my explorations on the beaches of Eastern US and the coastal nature of the Atlantic ocean. Best, Mari
